the transport streams prescribed by the MPEG 2 systems, and wherein said management information shows the access positions for said contents information by means of the time stamps for said transport streams and addresses on the recording medium.
13. The information recording/reproducing apparatus according to claim ~~12~~11 wherein said contents information is inputted in the form of

Examiner's Statement of Reasons for Allowance

3. Claims 1,3-11,13-16,18-21,23-26,28-31,33-41,43-51,53-61,63-71,73-81 and 83-92 are allowed over prior art.
4. This action is in reply to applicant's correspondence of 17 July 2006, and subsequent IDS references submitted 26 December 2006, and the consideration thereof.
5. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for the indication of allowable claimed subject matter.
6. As per claims 1,6,11,16,21,26,31 and 92 generally, prior art of record, Blatter et al, U.S. Patent 5,754,651, fails to teach alone, or in combination, other than via hindsight, at the time of the invention, the features as discussed and remarked upon in the response of 7/17/2006 to office action of 4/14/2006.

Specifically, (as per claim 1, for example) prior art dealing with multimedia content distribution and associated distribution protection technologies (i.e., software, hardware, combined in client/server and stand alone reproduction/rendering, etc.), is generally known to exist per se, with various methods used to protect content via encoding, encryption of content as well as associated reproduction information (i.e., Lenzi, R., 'The Interactive-Music Network WG-DCM Systems for multimedia content distribution Technology Survey', Rigel Engineering, 7/02/03, entire document, www.interactivemusicnetwork.org/documenti/view_document.php?file_id=361). Nowhere in the prior art is found collectively the italicized claim elements (i.e., the specifics of dealing with encrypted information about the content that is associated with time stamp access locations previously determined, encrypted, and subsequently used for management of said content upon re-encryption, and re-recording upon an associated recording media), at the time of the invention; serving to patently distinguish the invention from said prior art;

Art Unit: 2136

"1. An information recording apparatus comprising:

inputting means for inputting enciphered contents information;

contents information deciphering means for deciphering the enciphered contents information;

access position extracting means for extracting recording medium access positions from the deciphered contents information, the recording medium access positions indicating addresses on a recording medium corresponding to a time stamp in the content information; management information creating means for creating management information that includes the recording medium access positions from the deciphered contents information; and recording means for recording the enciphered contents information on a first area of a recording medium, recording information for enciphering the contents information on a second area of the recording medium, and recording the management information on a third area of the recording medium.”

7. Dependent claims 3-5,7-10,13-15,18-20,23-25,28-30,33-41,43-51,53-61,63-71,73-81 and 83-91 are allowable by virtue of their dependencies.
